The Lockdown has hit the restaurant industry hard and with the restrictions finally easing, plenty of our favourite London spots are finally opening their doors once again. To help these creative and truly special foodie spots keep their doors open, we're giving you the lowdown on exactly which London restaurants are reopening in each neighbourhood - so you can get to booking ASAP.

28°-50° Covent Garden

Wine lovers rejoice, because independent wine specialists 28°-50° has reopened in Covent Garden, boosted with an updated wine list and a new array of fresh summer dishes. We recommend the Artichoke tempura with aioli or the crab salad with mango and avocado. If you're looking for an excellent summer wine recommendation? There's no one better than the wine experts at 28°-50°, so better get booking and fast.
