BRING YOUR FRIENDS TO: Covent Garden Rosé Festival

From Monday 17th May, Covent Garden is hosting a three-week rosé festival where visitors can try more than 30 varieties of wine and exclusive rosé cocktails. Nine pop-ups, including SL favourite Maison Mirabeau, Amie Wine, Dirty Martini, Chez Antoinette and Fiona Fleur, will be serving a selection of drinks, from ice-cold glasses of wine to refreshing frozen cocktails. In addition to the drinks on offer, 20 restaurants will offer rosé-themed menus, while shops like L'Occitane, Molton Brown and Miller Harris will be on hand with rosé-scented creams, candles and oils. Don't miss the rose-shaped ice-cream at Italian gelato Amorino.

GET BAKING AT HOME: Mon Desserts

Baking enthusiasts will already know about Mon Desserts and their French-inspired at-home baking subscriptions, but for those who haven't, this month is a great time to get involved. May's kit contains everything you need to create a special mille-feuille, including pre-weighed ingredients, an easy-to-follow recipe card and all the necessary kitchen tools. An ideal choice for a last-minute birthday gift or weekend activity, the recipe can be adapted if you'd rather go vegan or gluten-free. If you're up for the challenge, you can also add on other kits, too – from baked doughnuts to lemon tarts. Available for nationwide delivery, subscriptions start from £19.95 per month.

GET THE DRINKS IN: 28°-50° Wine Workshop & Kitchen, Chelsea

If you're looking for a cool bar to try with your friends, 28°-50° Wine Workshop & Kitchen is due to open a new site in Chelsea on Monday 17th May. A lovely spot for alfresco drinks, diners can enjoy a range of European, brasserie-style dishes alongside an extensive wine selection, plus a small range from their own vineyard in the French Alps. The à la carte menu includes light bites, charcuterie and cheese boards, plus seafood platters containing mussels, rock oysters, prawns, clams, crab, and a grill section.
