

HOUSE of COCO

Home > Food & Drink > 5 best Easter feasts to enjoy if you don't want to cook a Sunday Roast this bank holiday weekend

 04/15/2022

Easter weekend is finally upon us and it's safe to say we've all been long looking forward to this bank holiday weekend – and the delicious food that will come along with it.

From an abundance of chocolate eggs and other confectionery, this weekend signals a cemented move into spring – so expect to see lots of roast lamb dishes; spring tarts and many more recipes filling your social media feeds.

But if you're not up for cooking a feast – and there's no shame in this if you simply want to relax this weekend – we have some excellent Easter celebratory meals for you to lust upon (and eventually enjoy!) this bank holiday.

Easter weekend with 28-50's lamb

Spend your Easter celebrations at 28-50

Easter 2022 is a rather fun celebration at 28-50 Chelsea and South Kensington – as both restaurants will be offering a limited edition dish across the whole weekend. Guests can devour a delicious lamb saddle served with Wye Valley asparagus, Jersey Royal potatoes and lamb jus – for just £24.95. You'll forget about a homemade Sunday Roast in no time.

Complement this gorgeous meal with 28-50's fabulously curated wine list and fully enjoy this bank holiday weekend with family and/or friends. A la carte menu dishes still remain, including the confit duck leg with Jerusalem artichokes, braised shallots and blackberry jus – as well as the renowned cheeseburger with smoked bacon and truffle mayo. If you're craving something sweet to finish the meal, why not enjoy the lemon posset blood orange and sable biscuit – or caffeine lovers can opt for the coffee crème brûlée.