Experience the French Alps this Christmas with Purple Ski's family-oriented getaways

Ben Sanderson November 24, 2022 Europe, France, News, Travel

THE PREMIER luxury chalet operator in the French Alps, Purple Ski, has announced its top family-friendly destinations for the 2022/23 season, ensuring dreams of a white Christmas are made real.

Boasting an exceptional portfolio of residences across Méribel, Courchevel and Val d'Isère, Purple's chalet's are the perfect place to fulfil your winter wonderland fantasies. Sleeping from eight to fifteen guests, the entire family can enjoy a season of excellent service, fine dining and world-class snow sport activities.

Chalet Foinbois

Chalet Machapuchare

Truly committing to an unmatched festive experience, upon arrival all children will be provided with gifts, with the added opportunity to engage in activities such as igloo-building, ice skating, dog sledding and more. Cuisine also ventures between fine dining and child-friendly, from Michelin star to picnics all provided by a private chef. From arrival to departure, Purple have expertly curated a getaway catered to all, ensuring your holiday is as perfect as you could ever imagine.

Divided into three sections, the collective have created a varied selection of chalets suited to age group. For example, if you're travelling with restless teenagers, try the Chalet Foinbois in Méribel Village, or perhaps Chalet Machapuchare in Le Crêt which is perfectly suited to a crowd of young children.
