FUNCHAL

KAMPO £££

At Kampo, dining is an immersive journey. Chef Júlio Pereira draws on his gastronomic roots to create a unique experience where tradition blends with creativity. Located in the vibrant heart of Funchal, Madeira, this inspired restaurant offers a warm and intimate setting for guests to unwind and come together. Here, the restaurant's open kitchen takes centre stage, giving you a front-row seat to the action. Within the kitchen, flavour is explored with respect and boldness, using seasonal produce and careful technique to craft expressive, refined dishes. Meat lovers can enjoy dry-aged cuts cooked to perfection, including tenderloin, chuletón and T-bone. Every detail matters. From naturally fermented artisan bread to vibrant, refreshing desserts, Kampo's hospitality makes each experience truly memorable. This place is not just about eating, it's about connecting with food, place and story. If you're ready to do dinnertime a little differently, you know where to go.

ROME

TRADITIONAL ROMAN

AI COCCI RISTORANTE
££

Ristorante Ai Cocci is located in Testaccio, where Roman cuisine was born. Its name pays homage to Monte dei Cocci, a hill made of amphora fragments left from the ancient Roman oil and wine industries, a fact which strengthens the restaurant's already powerful Roman roots. Here you can enjoy fresh pasta, handmade using seasonal ingredients and traditional techniques. Relax into the restaurant's homely atmosphere as you savour iconic local classics like carbonara, Roman-style artichokes and delicious grilled lamb chops.

LONDON

HONI POKE

Dive into the vibrant flavours of Honi Poke, London's leading Hawaiian-inspired poke chain. With over 20 sleek locations dotted throughout the city, this restaurant is a must-try for London locals and visitors alike. Build your perfect bowl from scratch, starting with sashimi-grade salmon, tuna or a range of vegan options. Next, pair them with premium Japanese rice, bold sauces like sriracha mayo, and tasty toppings like mango and avocado. The star attraction? The Honi Poke bowl, London's most popular spicy salmon creation, savoured over one million times since the brand's debut in Soho, 2017. Stop by High Holborn, near Oxford Street, for a quick pick-me-up during your city shopping spree. Or head to Bankside, situated by Tate Modern, for an artful lunch. Last but not least, take the trip to St Paul's, near the Cathedral, for a history-backed bite to eat. With modern, bright interiors, Honi Poke champions simplicity and authenticity, perfect for travellers craving healthy, flavourful meals. Gluten-free and vegan options ensure everyone enjoys the Aloha spirit in this unmissable London gem!

LONDON

BERUT BISTRO

Whether you're a seasoned fan of Levantine cuisine or a curious first timer, Berut is your one-way ticket to Lebanon – without having to leave London. Berut Bistro is a new Lebanese restaurant in Marylebone, one of London's most sophisticated neighbourhoods and it's quickly become a local sensation. The impressive menu celebrates Lebanon's culinary heritage with bold small plates, show-stopping sharing dishes and a selection of sweet treats.

So much so, it was recently awarded a glowing review by the Financial Times' food critic, Jay Rayner. You won't want to miss the Hummus Ras Asfour, topped with grilled lamb and pomegranate molasses, or the meltingly tender, slow-cooked lamb shank paired with aromatic rice. Last but not least, you need to try the Beirut Cloud dessert with layers of pistachio, ashta pudding and cotton candy. Stop by this sleek and stylish restaurant to discover the true taste of Beirut, via Baker Street. Reservations are highly recommended.

FAST FOOD CHIPS

FUNKY CHIPS

Chips are more than a snack on the side. At Funky Chips, they're a canvas for culinary experimentation. This journey to foodie excellence began in 2021 with the Funky Chips team creating the ultimate loaded fries. To achieve this, the restaurant sourced the finest potatoes from farms that have used traditional, pesticide-free methods for centuries. This commitment to quality is the foundation of the business. Ensuring that the raw ingredients are as tasty as possible makes the final product even more delicious – if that's possible. Funky Chips serves up various types of chips with its carefully curated dipping sauces – all homemade, mouth-watering flavours like Sticky BBQ, Ottoman Sauce and Nice Ting. The combination of these signature sauces and the social media-viral chips results in a unique culinary experience like no other. If you're passing by Camden Market and want to see just how tasty loaded fries can be, you know where to go.
